

THE ANTIOCH NEWS.

The Republican Policy of Reciprocity and Protection to American Industries, as Formulated in The Republican National Platform.

Vol. XIV, No. 40.

Antioch, Illinois Thursday, June 6, 1901.

THE POLARIS LIGHT

HILL'S Drug Store

Ice Cream Soda

Thompson's Ice Cream.

Wall Paper, Stationery,
Heath & Milligan's Paints,
Oils, Brushes, Souvenir China
Varnishes, Toilet
White Lead, etc. Prescriptions.

CENTRAL TELEPHONE OFFICE

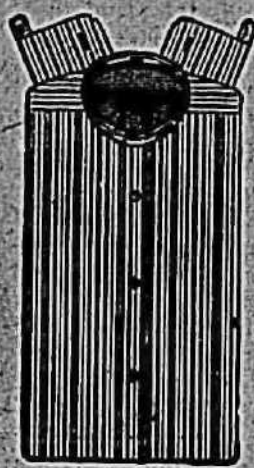

Don't forget
that you can get any kind of a

SHIRT

AT...

WEBB BROTHERS.

A Full Line of FURNITURE

Look at These Prices

Lawn Chairs.....95c
Camp Stools.....25c
Lawn Swings.....$5.00
Croquet Sets.....65c
Good White Lead, per lb....6c
Everything in the Paint Line.
New Home and Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machines.

J. C. James, Jr., Antioch

BABY CARRIAGES

A Splendid Line.

POWDER A SURPRISE.

What Happened to the Man Who First Found It Out.

It occurred to an alchemist one day that it would be a fine thing to take sulphur, saltpeter and dried toads, pound them all to a powder and "sublime" them together in an alembic, which he carefully luted and set on the furnace to heat. He poked up the fire and waited around, thinking what he would do with all his money if this should turn out to be the powder of reduction that would turn base metals into gold. When, bang! went the alembic and the windows blew out, and the door ripped off the hinges and fell down, bam! The alchemist scuffled out from under the ruins of the furnace, shook a red-hot coal or two out of his shoe and the ashes off himself, and wondered what had struck him. He tried it again and again, and each time with the same result; and then it dawned upon him that he had discovered a fair article of blasting powder. Since then about all that has been done to his recipe has been to put in a little better article of charcoal, say that of willow twigs, instead of toasted toads. Little did the old alchemist dream what potency was in that powder of reduction. For such it is. Although it never yet has turned lead into gold by its magic touch, yet when a small, round piece of lead is put with the powder into an iron tube of curious workmanship, and fired, laid thereto, it is possible to convert another man's gold into the possession of him that has the iron tube of curious workmanship, and not gold only, but all manner of goods and chattels, houses and lands, messages, easements and hereditaments, even men's souls and bodies. Lay down the book for a moment and bethink you what this powder par excellence, this powder of powders, has brought about since the first dried toads charred in that alembic. How it has put down the mighty from their seat, and exalted them that are of low degree! This powder asks no questions as to right or wrong. It propels with equal violence the bullet against the breast of him that fights the foreign tyrant and him that resists the benevolent assimilation.—Almslee's.

Carlyle's Fat Pipe.

Down in Chelsea, within a stone's throw of Cheyne Row, there is a tobaccoist who used to supply Carlyle with his favorite weed. Carlyle was a constant and heavy smoker. Sir Charles Gavan Duffy once suggested to him that one who suffered so much from sleeplessness and indigestion ought not to smoke so constantly. Carlyle replied that he had once given up smoking for an entire year at the instance of a doctor, who assured him that his only ailment was too much tobacco, says the London Chronicle. At the end of the year he was walking one evening in the country, so weak that he was hardly able to crawl from tree to tree, when he suddenly determined that, whatever was amiss with him, "that fellow, at least, did not understand it," and he returned to tobacco, and smoked afterward without let or hindrance. In his latter days he used a clay pipe made in Dublin, and known as the "Repeal." He was unable to renew the supply and Sir Charles Duffy assured him that these pipes were strictly reserved for true believers in Irish nationality, and promised him a supply if he qualified in the ordinary manner. Carlyle never qualified.

Evolution of the Printing Press.

In 1810 the first patent for a power press was issued in England to Frederick Koenig; in less than a year, the power press was at work, issuing 800 impressions an hour. It was the marvel of the day. People flocked in crowds and impeded the work of the pressmen in order to see a press that would print 800 impressions an hour. Three years later Koenig made good his promise of constructing a far more rapid press, and then the wonder was renewed, for, on November 28, 1814, the London Times was printed on this new press, making 1,800 impressions an hour on one side of the sheet. In 1817 George Clymer invented the Columbian press, a vast improvement over all its predecessors, and in 1846 came the Hoe press. The Bullock perfecting press was first set to work in 1863, so that the cylinder presses of the present day all originated so recently that some of the men who participated in their invention and early manufacture are still among the living.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Artificial Odors.

The chemical odors and artificial ethereal oils of German manufacture have greatly injured the French flower-field industry, as the prices for the artificial odors are much less than those of the natural ones.

Prosecution of Criminals Is Costly.

Considering the fees paid to prosecuting lawyers and "expert witnesses" in criminal trials, it seems that it would be better to poison the criminals than to try them. Certainly it would be cheaper.—New York World.

GERMANY'S NEW OIL ENGINE.

It Operates Without the Use of Boilers, Furnaces or Chimneys.

Great things are expected of the Diesel engine, the latest thing in German engineering, the first working of which in England a London Express representative was permitted to see at Gudebridge, near Manchester, recently. Economy in fuel and space is the chief merit of the Diesel, commending it to makers of automobiles and small marine craft as an engine with a future. Its claim to originality lies in the fact that it works with crude oil, without smell or dirt, perfectly consuming all the products of the combustion. Unlike other oil engines, it requires no ignition point. Compressed air from cylinders starts the Diesel. Oil and air are then admitted to the cylinder, when the compression of the air by the return stroke so raises the temperature that the oil flashes and the forward stroke is delivered. The exhaust is perfectly clean and free from Diesel is that no boilers, furnaces or chimneys are required. Great economy of space and fuel is effected, as it can be used with any kind of liquid fuel or furnace gas—the waste product of blast furnaces. Hopes are entertained that the Diesel will be used on a very large scale, those who are introducing it to England claiming for it the ability to run a vessel as large as the Oceanic. Already an order has been placed by the French government for an engine of this type, to be used in a submarine boat. If the Diesel frees the streets from the smell of the motor car and yacht decks and ladies' dresses from the clinders of a steamer funnel, the German inventor will have a claim on the gratitude of mankind. If, as seems likely, it will encourage the establishment of small plants in rural districts, where gas is not obtainable and coal is dear, it may do much more than this for industrial England.

An Ashamed City.

The Chronicle states that gold was first found in Bendigo by an old shepherd, who being pugnacious, was christened by his comrades Bendigo, after the pugilist. We believe, says the Athenian, that the place was called Bandido creek; that, when the rush occurred, the diggers, mostly Californians, not acquainted with the Australian animal after which the creek was called, corrupted the name into that of the well-known Nottingham pugilist. The most interesting fact about the place, however, is that when it grew respectable it became ashamed of its name, changed it, and, lately, thinking that the earlier name was, after all, racy of Australian life, deliberately reverted to it.—San Francisco Bulletin.

Britain's Strata for Iron Ore.

The vast deposit of iron ore on the Dunderland river in Norway recently acquired by an English syndicate had hitherto been found commercially unworkable owing to the existence of a large proportion of secular hematite combined with magnetite, but by means of Mr. Edgson's process for separating these substances the syndicate is able to take two tons of this low grade non-Bessemer ore and produce from it over one ton of high-grade Bessemer ore averaging 65 per cent of metallic iron. The syndicate, says a London newspaper, has already proved the existence on a portion of the property of over 99,000,000 tons of iron ore, and there is reasonable hope for believing that other parts of the property may turn out proportionately good.—Detroit Free Press.

New Spinning Machine.

Some two years ago a resident of Boston, Mass., devised a new spinning machine, which he took with him to Bradford, the center of the spinning industry of Great Britain. There, aided by local engineers and experts, he improved his appliance, which is now in active operation. It is capable of spinning a variety of materials, such as asbestos and peat moss, as easily and as readily as wool, and when completed, it is difficult to determine the original nature of the fabric.

Thoughtful Man Made Mistake.

Useless goodness is seldom appreciated in this world of ours. There was that man in the electric car, for instance. Having rung up three fares in his efforts to stop the car for the woman that sat on the opposite side, he tossed after her the umbrella that belonged to the little gray-whiskered man on his right. Neither the gray-whiskered man nor the conductor liked the thoughtful Samaritan for his altruistic efforts.—Boston Transcript.

Immensity of a Western Farm.

The magnitude of the operations carried on incidentally by David Rankin, the Missouri cattle king, may be imagined when it is remembered that at his ranch in Atchison county this year he will plant 10,000 acres of corn alone, employing about 250 men and utilizing 600 horses.

Danger, disease and death follow neglect of the bowels. Use DeWitt's Little Early Remedy to regulate them and you will add years to your life and life to your years. Easy to take; never gripe. W. T. Hill.

Great Bargains in Summer Goods

LADIES' SHIRT WAISTS, The Biggest and Finest Assortment in Antioch.

Ladies' Wrappers, Corset Covers, Chemise,
India Linen, White Underskirts,
Embroideries, and Night Gowns
At Very Low Prices.

LADIES' WRAPPERS—A new stock just received from New York. Call and see them.

WALL PAPER—We are closing out wall paper at cost. Come and get a bargain.

MEN'S OVERSHIRTS—The latest colors and make; at a cut price.

CORSETS—We have fine line of the latest military form of corsets. They are the Royal Worster and Bon Ton; a perfect fitting corset.

MEN'S HATS—A full line and the latest styles.

COHN & LEVIN, Wilton blk, Antioch

Don't trust to blind luck!

Open Your Eyes and Investigate
And Save Yourself Regret.

Call and investigate
my line of

OSBORNE FARM TOOLS

BEFORE YOU BUY ANY OTHER KIND

The Osborne Machines
SPEAK FOR THEMSELVES.

Yours, for Business,

F. L. THORN,
ANTIOCH, ILL.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS

BUGGIES WAGONS AND CARRIAGES

Max J. Huber,

Practical Painter,
ANTIOCH, ILL.

Carriage Painting, Paper Hanging, Calcomining &c

We are now prepared to attend to anything in the above line

You know our ability in PAINTING AND GRAINING.

Let Us Figure on Your Work. We will give you the benefit of our experience and charge you right prices for the work

NORTHERN WISCONSIN DEVELOPMENT

That rapidly developing territory, which occupies the northern half of Wisconsin is not near enough to cause the hardships and vicissitudes of frontier life, and old enough to keep away the tending settlers on account of exorbitant land prices. It is in that stage of partial development which gives great opportunity to bring it to the highest point of perfection and prosperity. Good roads and other improvements are going in. All that is needed is a small capital, brain and brawn, supplemented by push and energy, will do the rest. The iron ore, marl, kaolin and clay beds, the timber and the rich soil, give equal opportunity to the settler and the manufacturer. Land is cheap and can be purchased on easy terms.

THE WISCONSIN CENTRAL

offers facilities for the quick and cheap transportation of its products and as the line penetrates to the very center of this vast northern territory, choice of location is not confined to any one particular locality. Interesting pamphlets and maps fully describing this beautiful and rich country can be obtained by addressing

W. H. Killen, Land and Industrial Commissioner,
Burton Johnson, G. F. A., or
Jas. C. Fourn, General Passenger Agent,
Colby & Abbot bldg Milwaukee, Wis.

The Academy of Northwest- ern University.

Seven years' teaching, all college graduates, Chicago, Ill. Graduates of the University of Chicago, Northwestern University, and other leading universities. Students from all states and all foreign countries. Tuition low. Some special advantages. Send for new illustrated catalogue.

HENRY F. FAY, D. D., Principal, Evanston, Ill.

OPEN G. J. STEWART, PAINTER.

FOR BUSINESS

HOUSE

Sign and Decorative Painting PAPER HANGING, ETC.

I carry the Latest Designs of Wall Paper in the United States from the leading firms, such as Decorators Wall Paper Company, Kraus & Lederer's Celebrated Wall Papers at per roll, from 4c to $1.

A SPECIALTY OF Graining and Marbleizing.

A sample of which can be seen at the office of The Antioch News, also samples of Wall Paper.

I am prepared to give thorough satisfaction when entrusted with work or orders in the above line.

MISS LELIA WILLIAMS.

Graduate of Chicago Music College will accept a limited number of pupils.

Vocal, or Piano Instruction. Antioch, Ill.

Are We Here Yet? Indeed We Are!

And We Promise You We Are Here to Stay!

But we cannot promise you $2.00 worth of goods for $1.00 in money. We will give you just as good goods as you can get anywhere for your dollar. Embalming done by the latest methods. Calls answered day or night. Lady assistant.

J. H. HUGHES & CO., Undertakers,
ANTIOCH and LAKE VILLA.

The Doctor's Dilemma

By Hesba Stretton

CHAPTER I.

I think I was as nearly mad as I could be, nearer madness, I believe, than I shall ever be again. Three weeks of it had driven me to the very verge of desperation. I cannot say here what had brought me to this pass, for I do not know into whose hands these pages may fall; but I had made up my mind to persist in a certain line of conduct which I firmly believed to be right, whilst those who had authority over me were resolutely bent upon making me submit to their will. The conflict had been going on, more or less violently, for months; now I had come very near the end of it. I felt that I must either yield or go mad. There was no chance of my dying; I was too strong for that.

It had been raining all the day long. My eyes had followed the course of solitary drops rolling down the window panes until my head ached. There was nothing within my room less dreary than without. I was in London, but in what part of London I did not know. The house was situated in a highly respectable, though not altogether fashionable quarter, as I judged by the gloomy, monotonous rows of buildings which I could see from my windows. The people who passed up and down the streets on fine days were well-to-do persons, who could afford to wear good and handsome clothes. The rooms on the third floor—my rooms, which I had not been allowed to leave since we entered the house, three weeks before—were very badly furnished. The carpet was nearly threadbare, and the curtains of dark red moreen were very dingy. My bedroom opened upon a dismal back yard, where a dog in a kennel howled dejectedly from time to time, and rattled his chain as if to remind me that I was a prisoner like himself. I had no books, no work, no music. It was a dreary place to pass a dreary time in; and my only resource was to pace to and fro—to and fro from one end to another of those wretched rooms.

A very slight sound grated on my ear; it was the hateful click of the key turning in the lock. A servant entered, carrying in a tray, upon which were a lamp and my tea—such a meal as might be prepared for a school-girl in disgrace. She came up to me, as if to draw down the blinds.

"Leave them," I said; "I will do it myself by and by."

"He's not coming home to-night," said a woman's voice behind me, in a scolding tone.

I could see her in the mirror without turning round. A handsome woman, with bold black eyes, and a rouged face, which showed coarsely in the ugly looking glass. She was extravagantly dressed, and not many years older than myself. I took no notice whatever of her, but continued to gaze out steadily at the lamp-lit streets and stormy sky.

"It will be no better for you when he is at home," she said fiercely. "He hates you; he swears so a hundred times a day, and he is determined to break your proud spirit. We shall force you to knock under sooner or later. What friends have you got anywhere to take your side? If you had made friends with me, my fine lady, you'd have found it good for yourself; but you've chosen to make me your enemy, and I'll make him your enemy."

"I set my teeth together and gave no indication that I had heard one word of her taunting speech. My silence served to fan her fury."

"Upon my soul, madam," she almost shrieked, "you are enough to drive me to murder. I could beat you. Ay, and I would; but for him. So then three weeks of this hasn't broken you down yet! We shall try other means to-morrow."

She came up to where I stood, shook her clenched hand in my face and flung herself out of the room, pulling the door violently after her. I turned my head round. A thin, fine streak of light, no thicker than a thread, shone for an instant. My heart stood still, and then beat like a hammer. I stole very softly to the door, and discovered that the bolt had slipped beyond the hoop of the lock. The door was open for me!

I had been on the alert for such a chance, ever since my imprisonment began. My feet were in a drawer, and I was ready to put on thicker boots; and it was perhaps essential to the success of my flight to steal down the stairs in the soft velvet slippers I was wearing. I crept past the drawing room door. The heavy house door opened with a grating of the hinges; but I stood outside in the shelter of the portico—free, but with the rain and wind of a stormy night in October beating against me.

I dashed straight across the muddy road, and then turned sharply round a corner. On I fled breathlessly. As I drew nearer to shop windows an omnibus driver, seeing me run toward him, pulled up his horse in expectation of a passenger. I sprang in, caring very little where it might carry me, so that I could get quickly enough and far enough out of the reach of my pursuers. There had been no time to lose, and none was lost. The omnibus drove on again quickly, and no trace of me was left.

The omnibus drove into a station yard, and every passenger, inside and out, prepared to alight. I lingered till the last. The wind drove across the open space in a strong gust as I stepped down upon the pavement. A man had just descended from the roof, and was paying the conductor a tall, burly man, wearing a thick waterproof coat, and a seaman's hat of white with a long flap lying over the back of his neck. His face was brown and weather-beaten, but he had kindly to Southampton?" said him.

to Southampton?" he answered.

light of it," said

ance, if you please,

man, sovereign, a

and no smaller

man answered

no, and the stranger who had not passed on, turned pleasantly to me.

"You have no change, mam'zelle?" he asked slowly, as if English was not his ordinary speech. "Very well are you going to Southampton?"

"Yes, by the next train," I answered, deciding upon that course without hesitation.

"So am I, mam'zelle," he said, raising his hand to his oilskin cap; "I will pay this sixpence, and you can give it me again when you buy your ticket in the office."

I smiled gladly but gravely. I passed on into the station. At the ticket office they changed my Australian gold piece, and I sought out my seaman friend to return the sixpence he had paid for me. I thanked him heartily.

He put me into a compartment where there were only two ladies, touched his hat and ran away to a second-class carriage.

In about two hours or more my fellow-passengers alighted at a large, half-deserted station. A porter came up to me as I leaned my head through the window.

"Going on, miss?" he asked.

"Oh, yes!" I answered, shrinking back into my corner seat. He remained on the step whilst the train moved on at a slackened pace, and then pulled up. Before me lay a dim, dark scene, with little specks of light twinkling here and there, but whether on sea or shore I could not tell. Immediately opposite the train stood the black hulls and masts and funnels of two steamers, with a glimmer of lanterns on their decks. The porter opened the door for me.

"You've only to go on board, miss," he said.

"I would do all my own work. What sort of a place do you and your wife live in?"

"My poor little wife is dead," he answered. "We live in Sark, my mother and I. I am a fisherman, but I have also a little farm. It is true we have one room to spare, which might do for mam'zelle; but the island is far away, and in the winter Sark is too mournful."

"It will be just the place I want," I said quickly; "it would suit me exactly. Can you let me go there at once? Will you take me with you?"

"Mam'zelle," he replied, smiling, "the room must be made ready for you, and I must speak to my mother. If God sends fresh air smote upon me almost painfully. The sea was growing brighter, and glittered here and there in spots where the sunlight fell upon it. I stayed on deck in the blinding wind, leaning over the wet bulwarks and gazing across the desolate sea till my spirits sank like lead. I was cold, and hungry, and miserable. How lonely I was! how poor! with neither a home nor a friend in the world—a mere castaway upon the waves of this troublous life!

"Mam'zelle is a brave sailor," said a voice behind me, which I recognized as my seaman of the night before; "but we shall be in port soon."

"What port?" I asked.

"St. Peter-port," he answered. "Mam'zelle, then, does not know our islands?"

"No," I said. "Where is St. Peter-port?"

"In Guernsey," he replied. "If you were going to land at St. Peter-port I might be of some service to you."

I looked at him steadily. His voice was a very pleasant one, full of tones that went straight to my heart. His face was bronzed and weather-beaten, but his deep-set eyes had a steadfast, quiet power in them, and his mouth had a pleasant curve about it. He looked a middle-aged man to me. He raised his cap as my eyes looked straight into his, and a faint smile flitted across his grave face.

"I want," I said suddenly, "to find a place where I can live very cheaply. I have not much money, and I must make it last a long time. Can you tell me of such a place?"

"You would want a place fit for a lady?" he said.

"I would do all my own work. What sort of a place do you and your wife live in?"

"My poor little wife is dead," he answered. "We live in Sark, my mother and I. I am a fisherman, but I have also a little farm. It is true we have one room to spare, which might do for mam'zelle; but the island is far away, and in the winter Sark is too mournful."

"It will be just the place I want," I said quickly; "it would suit me exactly. Can you let me go there at once? Will you take me with you?"

"Mam'zelle," he replied, smiling, "the room must be made ready for you, and I must speak to my mother. If God sends fresh air smote upon me almost painfully. The sea was growing brighter, and glittered here and there in spots where the sunlight fell upon it. I stayed on deck in the blinding wind, leaning over the wet bulwarks and gazing across the desolate sea till my spirits sank like lead. I was cold, and hungry, and miserable. How lonely I was! how poor! with neither a home nor a friend in the world—a mere castaway upon the waves of this troublous life!

"Mam'zelle is a brave sailor," said a voice behind me, which I recognized as my seaman of the night before; "but we shall be in port soon."

"What port?" I asked.

"St. Peter-port," he answered. "Mam'zelle, then, does not know our islands?"

"No," I said. "Where is St. Peter-port?"

"In Guernsey," he replied. "If you were going to land at St. Peter-port I might be of some service to you."

I looked at him steadily. His voice was a very pleasant one, full of tones that went straight to my heart. His face was bronzed and weather-beaten, but his deep-set eyes had a steadfast, quiet power in them, and his mouth had a pleasant curve about it. He looked a middle-aged man to me. He raised his cap as my eyes looked straight into his, and a faint smile flitted across his grave face.

"I want," I said suddenly, "to find a place where I can live very cheaply. I have not much money, and I must make it last a long time. Can you tell me of such a place?"

"You would want a place fit for a lady?" he said.

"I would do all my own work. What sort of a place do you and your wife live in?"

"My poor little wife is dead," he answered. "We live in Sark, my mother and I. I am a fisherman, but I have also a little farm. It is true we have one room to spare, which might do for mam'zelle; but the island is far away, and in the winter Sark is too mournful."

"It will be just the place I want," I said quickly; "it would suit me exactly. Can you let me go there at once? Will you take me with you?"

"Mam'zelle," he replied, smiling, "the room must be made ready for you, and I must speak to my mother. If God sends fresh air smote upon me almost painfully. The sea was growing brighter, and glittered here and there in spots where the sunlight fell upon it. I stayed on deck in the blinding wind, leaning over the wet bulwarks and gazing across the desolate sea till my spirits sank like lead. I was cold, and hungry, and miserable. How lonely I was! how poor! with neither a home nor a friend in the world—a mere castaway upon the waves of this troublous life!

"Mam'zelle is a brave sailor," said a voice behind me, which I recognized as my seaman of the night before; "but we shall be in port soon."

"What port?" I asked.

"St. Peter-port," he answered. "Mam'zelle, then, does not know our islands?"

"No," I said. "Where is St. Peter-port?"

"In Guernsey," he replied. "If you were going to land at St. Peter-port I might be of some service to you."

I looked at him steadily. His voice was a very pleasant one, full of tones that went straight to my heart. His face was bronzed and weather-beaten, but his deep-set eyes had a steadfast, quiet power in them, and his mouth had a pleasant curve about it. He looked a middle-aged man to me. He raised his cap as my eyes looked straight into his, and a faint smile flitted across his grave face.

"I want," I said suddenly, "to find a place where I can live very cheaply. I have not much money, and I must make it last a long time. Can you tell me of such a place?"

"You would want a place fit for a lady?" he said.

"I would do all my own work. What sort of a place do you and your wife live in?"

"My poor little wife is dead," he answered. "We live in Sark, my mother and I. I am a fisherman, but I have also a little farm. It is true we have one room to spare, which might do for mam'zelle; but the island is far away, and in the winter Sark is too mournful."

"It will be just the place I want," I said quickly; "it would suit me exactly. Can you let me go there at once? Will you take me with you?"

"Mam'zelle," he replied, smiling, "the room must be made ready for you, and I must speak to my mother. If God sends fresh air smote upon me almost painfully. The sea was growing brighter, and glittered here and there in spots where the sunlight fell upon it. I stayed on deck in the blinding wind, leaning over the wet bulwarks and gazing across the desolate sea till my spirits sank like lead. I was cold, and hungry, and miserable. How lonely I was! how poor! with neither a home nor a friend in the world—a mere castaway upon the waves of this troublous life!

"Mam'zelle is a brave sailor," said a voice behind me, which I recognized as my seaman of the night before; "but we shall be in port soon."

"What port?" I asked.

"St. Peter-port," he answered. "Mam'zelle, then, does not know our islands?"

"No," I said. "Where is St. Peter-port?"

"In Guernsey," he replied. "If you were going to land at St. Peter-port I might be of some service to you."

I looked at him steadily. His voice was a very pleasant one, full of tones that went straight to my heart. His face was bronzed and weather-beaten, but his deep-set eyes had a steadfast, quiet power in them, and his mouth had a pleasant curve about it. He looked a middle-aged man to me. He raised his cap as my eyes looked straight into his, and a faint smile flitted across his grave face.

"I want," I said suddenly, "to find a place where I can live very cheaply. I have not much money, and I must make it last a long time. Can you tell me of such a place?"

"You would want a place fit for a lady?" he said.

"I would do all my own work. What sort of a place do you and your wife live in?"

"My poor little wife is dead," he answered. "We live in Sark, my mother and I. I am a fisherman, but I have also a little farm. It is true we have one room to spare, which might do for mam'zelle; but the island is far away, and in the winter Sark is too mournful."

"It will be just the place I want," I said quickly; "it would suit me exactly. Can you let me go there at once? Will you take me with you?"

"Mam'zelle," he replied, smiling, "the room must be made ready for you, and I must speak to my mother. If God sends fresh air smote upon me almost painfully. The sea was growing brighter, and glittered here and there in spots where the sunlight fell upon it. I stayed on deck in the blinding wind, leaning over the wet bulwarks and gazing across the desolate sea till my spirits sank like lead. I was cold, and hungry, and miserable. How lonely I was! how poor! with neither a home nor a friend in the world—a mere castaway upon the waves of this troublous life!

"Mam'zelle is a brave sailor," said a voice behind me, which I recognized as my seaman of the night before; "but we shall be in port soon."

"What port?" I asked.

"St. Peter-port," he answered. "Mam'zelle, then, does not know our islands?"

"No," I said. "Where is St. Peter-port?"

"In Guernsey," he replied. "If you were going to land at St. Peter-port I might be of some service to you."

I looked at him steadily. His voice was a very pleasant one, full of tones that went straight to my heart. His face was bronzed and weather-beaten, but his deep-set eyes had a steadfast, quiet power in them, and his mouth had a pleasant curve about it. He looked a middle-aged man to me. He raised his cap as my eyes looked straight into his, and a faint smile flitted across his grave face.

"I want," I said suddenly, "to find a place where I can live very cheaply. I have not much money, and I must make it last a long time. Can you tell me of such a place?"

"You would want a place fit for a lady?" he said.

"I would do all my own work. What sort of a place do you and your wife live in?"

"My poor little wife is dead," he answered. "We live in Sark, my mother and I. I am a fisherman, but I have also a little farm. It is true we have one room to spare, which might do for mam'zelle; but the island is far away, and in the winter Sark is too mournful."

"It will be just the place I want," I said quickly; "it would suit me exactly. Can you let me go there at once? Will you take me with you?"

"Mam'zelle," he replied, smiling, "the room must be made ready for you, and I must speak to my mother. If God sends fresh air smote upon me almost painfully. The sea was growing brighter, and glittered here and there in spots where the sunlight fell upon it. I stayed on deck in the blinding wind, leaning over the wet bulwarks and gazing across the desolate sea till my spirits sank like lead. I was cold, and hungry, and miserable. How lonely I was! how poor! with neither a home nor a friend in the world—a mere castaway upon the waves of this troublous life!

"Mam'zelle is a brave sailor," said a voice behind me, which I recognized as my seaman of the night before; "but we shall be in port soon."

"What port?" I asked.

"St. Peter-port," he answered. "Mam'zelle, then, does not know our islands?"

"No," I said. "Where is St. Peter-port?"

"In Guernsey," he replied. "If you were going to land at St. Peter-port I might be of some service to you."

I looked at him steadily. His voice was a very pleasant one, full of tones that went straight to my heart. His face was bronzed and weather-beaten, but his deep-set eyes had a steadfast, quiet power in them, and his mouth had a pleasant curve about it. He looked a middle-aged man to me. He raised his cap as my eyes looked straight into his, and a faint smile flitted across his grave face.

"I want," I said suddenly, "to find a place where I can live very cheaply. I have not much money, and I must make it last a long time. Can you tell me of such a place?"

"You would want a place fit for a lady?" he said.

"I would do all my own work. What sort of a place do you and your wife live in?"

"My poor little wife is dead," he answered. "We live in Sark, my mother and I. I am a fisherman, but I have also a little farm. It is true we have one room to spare, which might do for mam'zelle; but the island is far away, and in the winter Sark is too mournful."

"It will be just the place I want," I said quickly; "it would suit me exactly. Can you let me go there at once? Will you take me with you?"

"Mam'zelle," he replied, smiling, "the room must be made ready for you, and I must speak to my mother. If God sends fresh air smote upon me almost painfully. The sea was growing brighter, and glittered here and there in spots where the sunlight fell upon it. I stayed on deck in the blinding wind, leaning over the wet bulwarks and gazing across the desolate sea till my spirits sank like lead. I was cold, and hungry, and miserable. How lonely I was! how poor! with neither a home nor a friend in the world—a mere castaway upon the waves of this troublous life!

"Mam'zelle is a brave sailor," said a voice behind me, which I recognized as my seaman of the night before; "but we shall be in port soon."

"What port?" I asked.

"St. Peter-port," he answered. "Mam'zelle, then, does not know our islands?"

"No," I said. "Where is St. Peter-port?"

"In Guernsey," he replied. "If you were going to land at St. Peter-port I might be of some service to you."

I looked at him steadily. His voice was a very pleasant one, full of tones that went straight to my heart. His face was bronzed and weather-beaten, but his deep-set eyes had a steadfast, quiet power in them, and his mouth had a pleasant curve about it. He looked a middle-aged man to me. He raised his cap as my eyes looked straight into his, and a faint smile flitted across his grave face.

"I want," I said suddenly, "to find a place where I can live very cheaply. I have not much money, and I must make it last a long time. Can you tell me of such a place?"

"You would want a place fit for a lady?" he said.

"I would do all my own work. What sort of a place do you and your wife live in?"

"My poor little wife is dead," he answered. "We live in Sark, my mother and I. I am a fisherman, but I have also a little farm. It is true we have one room to spare, which might do for mam'zelle; but the island is far away, and in the winter Sark is too mournful."

"It will be just the place I want," I said quickly; "it would suit me exactly. Can you let me go there at once? Will you take me with you?"

"Mam'zelle," he replied, smiling, "the room must be made ready for you, and I must speak to my mother. If God sends fresh air smote upon me almost painfully. The sea was growing brighter, and glittered here and there in spots where the sunlight fell upon it. I stayed on deck in the blinding wind, leaning over the wet bulwarks and gazing across the desolate sea till my spirits sank like lead. I was cold, and hungry, and miserable. How lonely I was! how poor! with neither a home nor a friend in the world—a mere castaway upon the waves of this troublous life!

"Mam'zelle is a brave sailor," said a voice behind me, which I recognized as my seaman of the night before; "but we shall be in port soon."

"What port?" I asked.

"St. Peter-port," he answered. "Mam'zelle, then, does not know our islands?"

"No," I said. "Where is St. Peter-port?"

"In Guernsey," he replied. "If you were going to land at St. Peter-port I might be of some service to you."

I looked at him steadily. His voice was a very pleasant one, full of tones that went straight to my heart. His face was bronzed and weather-beaten, but his deep-set eyes had a steadfast, quiet power in them, and his mouth had a pleasant curve about it. He looked a middle-aged man to me. He raised his cap as my eyes looked straight into his, and a faint smile flitted across his grave face.

"I want," I said suddenly, "to find a place where I can live very cheaply. I have not much money, and I must make it last a long time. Can you tell me of such a place?"

"You would want a place fit for a lady?" he said.

"I would do all my own work. What sort of a place do you and your wife live in?"

"My poor little wife is dead," he answered. "We live in Sark, my mother and I. I am a fisherman, but I have also a little farm. It is true we have one room to spare, which might do for mam'zelle; but the island is far away, and in the winter Sark is too mournful."

"It will be just the place I want," I said quickly; "it would suit me exactly. Can you let me go there at once? Will you take me with you?"

"Mam'zelle," he replied, smiling, "the room must be made ready for you, and I must speak to my mother. If God sends fresh air smote upon me almost painfully. The sea was growing brighter, and glittered here and there in spots where the sunlight fell upon it. I stayed on deck in the blinding wind, leaning over the wet bulwarks and gazing across the desolate sea till my spirits sank like lead. I was cold, and hungry, and miserable. How lonely I was! how poor! with neither a home nor a friend in the world—a mere castaway upon the waves of this troublous life!

"Mam'zelle is a brave sailor," said a voice behind me, which I recognized as my seaman of the night before; "but we shall be in port soon."

"What port?" I asked.

"St. Peter-port," he answered. "Mam'zelle, then, does not know our islands?"

"No," I said. "Where is St. Peter-port?"

"In Guernsey," he replied. "If you were going to land at St. Peter-port I might be of some service to you."

I looked at him steadily. His voice was a very pleasant one, full of tones that went straight to my heart. His face was bronzed and weather-beaten, but his deep-set eyes had a steadfast, quiet power in them, and his mouth had a pleasant curve about it. He looked a middle-aged man to me. He raised his cap as my eyes looked straight into his, and a faint smile flitted across his grave face.

"I want," I said suddenly, "to find a place where I can live very cheaply. I have not much money, and I must make it last a long time. Can you tell me of such a place?"

"You would want a place fit for a lady?" he said.

"I would do all my own work. What sort of a place do you and your wife live in?"

"My poor little wife is dead," he answered. "We live in Sark, my mother and I. I am a fisherman, but I have also a little farm. It is true we have one room to spare, which might do for mam'zelle; but the island is far away, and in the winter Sark is too mournful."

"It will be just the place I want," I said quickly; "it would suit me exactly. Can you let me go there at once? Will you take me with you?"

"Mam'zelle," he replied, smiling, "the room must be made ready for you, and I must speak to my mother. If God sends fresh air smote upon me almost painfully. The sea was growing brighter, and glittered here and there in spots where the sunlight fell upon it. I stayed on deck in the blinding wind, leaning over the wet bulwarks and gazing across the desolate sea till my spirits sank like lead. I was cold, and hungry, and miserable. How lonely I was! how poor! with neither a home nor a friend in the world—a mere castaway upon the waves of this troublous life!

"Mam'zelle is a brave sailor," said a voice behind me, which I recognized as my seaman of the night before; "but we shall be in port soon."

"What port?" I asked.

"St. Peter-port," he answered. "Mam'zelle, then, does not know our islands?"

"No," I said. "Where is St. Peter-port?"

"In Guernsey," he replied. "If you were going to land at St. Peter-port I might be of some service to you."

I looked at him steadily. His voice was a very pleasant one, full of tones that went straight to my heart. His face was bronzed and weather-beaten, but his deep-set eyes had a steadfast, quiet power in them, and his mouth had a pleasant curve about it. He looked a middle-aged man to me. He raised his cap as my eyes looked straight into his, and a faint smile flitted across his grave face.

"I want," I said suddenly, "to find a place where I can live very cheaply. I have not much money, and I must make it last a long time. Can you tell me of such a place?"

"You would want a place fit for a lady?" he said.

"I would do all my own work. What sort of a place do you and your wife live in?"

"My poor little wife is dead," he answered. "We live in Sark, my mother and I. I am a fisherman, but I have also a little farm. It is true we have one room to spare, which might do for mam'zelle; but the island is far away, and in the winter Sark is too mournful."

"It will be just the place I want," I said quickly; "it would suit me exactly. Can you let me go there at once? Will you take me with you?"

THE NEWS

A REPUBLICAN NEWSPAPER.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY AT
J. J. Burke, Editor & Publisher

By Mail, One Dollar Per Year in Advance.

THE NEWS Circulation is Largest Weekly
Publication in Western Lake County, where Any Paper Published in This State.

ANTIOCH, ILLINOIS.

WASHINGTON LETTER

President McKinley is so seriously concerned over Mrs. McKinley's condition, she having done little, if any, more than hold her own since she got back to Washington, that he has canceled all of his June engagements, except to visit Harvard University commencement June 26th, which is held in abeyance, he being very anxious to go there if Mrs. McKinley's health will permit. Her physicians are hopeful, but admit that Mrs. McKinley is still dangerously ill, and that her failure to gain strength more rapidly is alarming.

Director Merriam, of the Census Bureau, has been breaking records ever since the taking of the census was started last year, and the final report on population, showing the aggregate population by states and territories, density of population, center of population in its medium point, population of Alaska and Hawaii, etc., the first half of which has just been issued, and the concluding half of which will be issued in the early fall, will be four years ahead of similar reports made in any previous census.

Attorney General Knox, at the request of the Spanish Claims Commission, has rendered an opinion that claims growing out of the loss of the battleship Maine, are properly claims of the U. S. against Spain on account of the war should be made. Such claims are still being filed, but it is probable that they had been prepared before the Attorney General had been heard from, and that the attorneys are filing them so as to be in a position to take advantage of the possibility of the opinion not being upheld by the courts, although so far as known, no steps have been taken towards getting its legality passed upon.

One of the results of a published interview with the President of Venezuela, in which he reflected severely upon U. S. Minister Loomis, now in Europe on a vacation, for acts in which he was carrying out his instructions from Secretary Hay, is that President McKinley has decided that Mr. Loomis shall not return to Venezuela, but shall be given another diplomatic position of equal importance. The President of Venezuela will find no difference in the chance, as the new minister will be given precisely the same instructions that were given to Mr. Loomis. Meanwhile W. V. Russell, who is in charge of the U. S. Legation at Caracas, has been instructed to inform the government of Venezuela that this government indorses every official act of Mr. Loomis.

Attorney General Knox is engaged by direction of President McKinley, in preparing a comprehensive opinion on all the Supreme Court Insular Decisions, showing precisely how far they go and what effect they will have upon our insular relations. That opinion will be submitted to the President and Cabinet this week, and after its careful consideration, it will be decided and probably officially announced what, if any, changes will be made in any branch of those relations; the opinion will also be a determining factor in the question of whether an extra session of congress will be called.

Secretary Root's letter, instructing General Wood to inform the members of the Cuban Constitutional Convention that this government did not approve of the additions made to the Platt amendment, before its acceptance by the convention, was a long and carefully prepared document, in the preparation of which President McKinley assisted. It impressed upon General Wood that this government does not wish to offend the Cubans, but that they must accept the Platt amendment just as it passed Congress, if they wish American authority to be withdrawn from the island; that nothing short of that will be satisfactory to this government. The Platt amendment is plain and the attempt to interpret several of its provisions, which the Cubans added, are obscure.

$15.00 To Buffalo and Return, $18.00

The Nickel Plate Road from Chicago, for the Pan-American Exposition. Tickets on sale daily, good leaving Buffalo up to midnight of the tenth day from, and including date of sale. Also tickets on sale daily, Chicago to Buffalo and return at $16.00 for the round trip, with 15-day limit, including date of sale. $21.00 from Chicago to Buffalo and return, good for 30 days.

On all through tickets to points east of Buffalo, privilege of stop over at Buffalo for ten days may be granted by depositing ticket with Joint Agent and payment of fee of $1.00.

Write John Y. Calahan, General Agent, 111 Adams Street, Chicago, for full particulars and folders showing time of trains, etc.

Northern Wisconsin Railroad Lands are increasing in value from year to year. Railroads are the great civilizers, for they give the settler as well as the manufacturer equal opportunity to work in undeveloped fields, thereby rapidly settling the country and bringing forth its undiscovered riches. Northern Wisconsin is rich in iron ore, clay, kaolin, talc, timber and fine farm lands. It has made many a settler independent and added to the wealth of mankind. Men who have bought this territory, on the promise of land, have not passed, as there is no generous supply of land which can be obtained at low figures and on easy terms.

ADVICE TO GRADUATES

Rev. E. J. Aikin preached the baccalaureate sermon Sunday evening before the graduating class of the Antioch high school. The two churches met together, the two choirs furnishing a chorus of twenty voices which rendered most excellent music. Rev. R. E. Cole led in prayer and Principal O. M. Manley read the scripture. Mr. Aikin spoke in an eloquent and forcible manner for forty minutes on "Character Building." Text, Psalm 95:6: "Strength and Beauty are in his Sanctuary."

Certain events in life are supposed to make us thoughtful. New Year's day, birthdays, anniversary events and the close of collegiate, academic or high school course belong to this class. At such times we are wont to pause and reflect as we pass from the old to the new. They are mile stones in the journey of life. It would not be strange if, looking backward, we saw mistakes that we have made, wrong habits that we have formed and certain tendencies in our lives that would better be abandoned. I have chosen the subject of "Character Building" in the hope that it may furnish you with a worthy ideal for the days to come, and that you may set it as a goal before your eyes, and toward which you bend your best energies.

The building of a noble character is the great work of life. It is not the work of childhood, or youth, or middle age, it is the work of life. I believe, ye a know, a strong beautiful character is possible to each of you.

It is nothing that comes by a streak of good luck, or something decreed by fate. It is obtained by obedience to the laws of God and for which you are responsible. We say a man's destiny turns upon his character; true, but the man is responsible for his character. What you must feel and feel deeply, is that there is within you the timber for making a magnificent character.

The fashioning of your character is the most important thing in this world. Everything else is but secondary. To get fame, wealth or success by the sacrifice of character is to pay too big a price. Beauty and strength are two elements that enter into the ideal character. Beauty is a moral quality; beauty is telling truth in love, it is living right lives. Beauty is not something we put on, like paint and fine clothes, but it is a part of ourselves. Aim at gentleness, kindness and sweetness of disposition; these are good builders. Much may depend upon our environment in the building of character, but more depends upon ourselves. For character is nothing more, nothing less, nothing other than self. If you fail to do lay it to hard luck or an unkind fate. The trouble is with yourself.

To the members of the graduating class of the Antioch high school: At this time all the class arose and Mr. Aikin said: For years you have been under these kind, efficient teachers. They have given you the best they have. These have been the happiest days you will ever know unless you know more just like them in some good college in our land. I am not familiar with the thoughts and plans you have for the future. The line of thought presented this evening may not meet with your hearty approval. It may be called mystical and not practical enough in this time-serving, money-getting age. But it is God's truth, and you will see it some day if you do not now. Seek not to shine by the knowledge you have obtained. We say knowledge is power, a better saying is, character is power. Your motto is well chosen: "We have reached the Bay, the Ocean lies before us." See to it that the ocean does not always lie before you. Do not spend your life paddling about in the bay as many do, but push out into the mighty deep of possibility. May you be strong, may you be beautiful. But "Strength and beauty are in His sanctuary."

Bodily Injuries and Lawsuits

An injured person who follows the suggestion of a physician sent to him by a person whom he had sued for injuring him and tries to stand on an injured leg after he and his own physician have said that he cannot bear his weight upon it, is held, in Pearl vs. West End Street Railway Company (Mass.), 49 L. R. A. 826, to assume the risk of so doing. With the case there is a notation reviewing the decisions on obeying or disobeying a physician as affecting the remedy of an injured person against the one who injured him.

German Navy Building Ships

The German navy department has given several orders for new ships to private shipbuilding firms. The Westphalia company, in Bremen, is to build two small cruisers. Blohm & Voos of Hamburg are to build an armored cruiser. The Howaldt works, in Kiel, also has a small cruiser on hand and contracts for two more battleships will shortly be given out.

Mother of Fourteen at 86

It is reported by reliable authority that there is a woman living in the mountains of Oconee county, South Carolina, who is 25 years old and has fourteen children, all living, and one grandchild. The woman married when only 11 years old and has enjoyed good health ever since. Atlanta Constitution.

Units Against Cranky Mistresses

Fifty servant girls of St. Paul, who propose to form a union for their protection against "stingy and cranky mistresses," met in the assembly hall of the city last evening and formed a temporary organization.

LITERARY NOTES

In almost every walk of life there have been great women. But has there ever been a woman who has reached the very highest pinnacle in any field? In the June Cosmopolitan Ella Wheeler Wilcox answers this question in the negative. She declares that even in the essentially feminine vocations of cooking, dressmaking and millinery men excel women. "Women," says Mr. Wilcox, "have not the concentration which gives a clear perspective. They lack system and patience and are distracted by details or turned aside by vanity."

The Platonic Love Letters of Charles Dickens

For more than fifty years an English woman (who is still living) has cherished a little sheet of letters written by Charles Dickens. The charming letters show the novelist in a new part—that of the successful matchmaker. They tell the story of another man's courtship and show how the writer spurred a faint heart into winning a fair lady.

They will be printed for the first time—in the Saturday Evening Post for June 15.

A New Story By Gelett Burgess

Gelett Burgess has chosen an unique plot for his new story, "A Man's Part," to appear in the Ladies' Home Journal. It has the merit of absolute originality, and is so absorbing as to demand a close reading. It has to do with a sweetheart, a configuration, a telephone, and a sulky, repentant suitor.

Building Fund Contributors.

Following is the list of names of those who gave 25 cents for the building fund to have their names preserved in the corner stone:

 Anna Hunter Lula Thayer Mrs Jerome Burnett Mable Higgins Vida Jamison Mrs F M Simmons Libbie Moore Mrs Mary L Morley Mrs Albert Tiffany Susan R Morley Mrs Alfred Zenger Belle Hughes Herman Wenzke Mrs E H Ames Mrs C B Harrison Mrs Wm Westlake Mrs Druella Ferris Mrs N B Burnett Ada Burnett J N Cohn Mrs E N Nutrick Ada V Nutrick Fred A Barthel Lottie R Barthel Albert Larson Freddie Larson Mrs J Engman F K Shottell LeRoy Pierce Heber Pierce Mrs Anna Selvin Mrs Jennett Thayer Mrs Wm Kelley Mrs P Overton Alvin Vickers Mrs J Drury Lena Pearl Drury Mrs Margaret Brogan A G Watson Mrs A J Maynard Mrs C D Longman Wm Sell Garrie Hilerodt Mr and Mrs Strahan Rev and Mrs Aikin Mrs Jacob Savage Addie Schaefer Mrs Fred Kinnrade Dr J G Anderson Mrs C E Johnson Mrs J R Jones Mrs Fanny Pittman Lottie Jones Mrs Emma Powles Roy Williams Charles Olsen Ruth Williams Harold Williams Laura Williams Geo Cashmore Mrs Wm Allen, Sr Mary Hankey Mrs Cora Savage Mrs Alice Little Mrs Elizabeth Yopp Dr August V Park 	 Mrs F Lasco " W Lasco " A Dibble Dr and Mrs Karr O Lee Karr Mrs Lucinda M Cribb Lottie Cribb A Crowler Lula Tiffany Mrs F E Fenderson Lottie E Haycock Mr and Mrs Wm Wenzke Mr and Mrs Jos Lebdon Augusta Wenzke H G Hunter Geo B Bartlett Outillie Wenzke Willie Pittman Mr and Mrs J Aikin Mrs M H Farrier Mr and Mrs W Williams Ada V Nutrick Mrs F Ziegler Mrs C A Beswick Mr and Mrs B F Naber Frank Chlun Mr and Mrs J J Burke Lola Thora Mr and Mrs H B Pierce Mr and Mrs E L Simons Jennie Tambling Mr and Mrs E P Allen John Allen McDougall Holt E McDougall Mrs Phoebe Ames Lillie Ames Ella Ames Wattie Ames Mr and Mrs W S Rinear Stephen Grice Edda Frances Aikin Rev and Mrs C Abie Merritt Wesley Aikin Hiram Proctor O C Carpenter Anna M Carpenter Mrs Middelendorf Mrs Mary L Richards Mr and Mrs E Hilerodt Mrs J P Warren Mrs J A Turner Florence E Hall Mrs W C Schert Mrs Delaney Mrs C Clark Mrs E H Westlake Mr and Mrs D A Williams Elsie Williams Dan Wiesner Tennie Sibley Mrs W T Hill Mrs E C Allen Mrs Valina G Paddock Lora Sheehan Mrs Josephine Herman Mrs Alma E Curtis Mrs Margaret Loo
--	---

Seven Years in Bed.

"Will wonders ever cease?" inquire the friends of Mrs. L. Pease, of Lawrence, Kan. They knew she had been unable to leave her bed in seven years on account of Kidney and Liver trouble, nervous prostration and general debility, but "three bottles of Electric Bitters enabled me to walk," she writes, "and in three months I felt like a new person." Women suffering from Headache, Backache, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Fainting and Dizzy Spells will find it a priceless blessing. Try it. Satisfaction is guaranteed. Only 50c. at Hill's drug store.

Low Rates to the Buffalo Exposition

via the Nickel Plate Road. Three through trains daily, with vestibuled sleeping cars and excellent dining car service, meals being served on the American Club Meals plan ranging in price from 35 cents to $1.00. Chicago Depot VanBuren Street, and Pacific Avenue, on the Elevated Loop.

Write John Y. Calahan, General Agent, 111 Adams Street, Chicago, for full information and beautifully illustrated descriptive folder of the Exposition buildings and grounds.

Mr. James Brown of Portsmouth, V., over 90 years of age, suffered for years with a bad sore on his face. Physicians could not help him. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured him permanently. Wm. T. Hill.

HIS LIFE SAVED

By Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

"I am sure that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy at one time saved my life," says A. E. Lafallette, of Gregory landing, Clark Co., Mo. "I was in such bad shape that the doctors said I could not live. When I was at the lowest ebb, one of my neighbors brought in a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and I took it and got instant relief. I soon got up and around. That was nine years ago and I am still in good health. Since then that medicine has always been in my house and always will be. It is the best on earth." For sale by W. H. Emmons, Antioch, and Thomson's Pharmacy, Grayslake.

Trailing Skirts and the Begging Industry

"Strange as it may seem, the trailing skirts that women are now wearing have almost ruined our business," confessed an intelligent street beggar yesterday. "That sounds queer, doesn't it? One not acquainted with our business might fail to see the connection between professional begging and women's skirts. And yet what I say is true. The greater part of our revenue ordinarily comes from women, but since they've taken to these long skirts for street wear, they are forced to hold them up, and that keeps one hand constantly occupied. It takes two hands to open a purse, and I have often seen women stop as though about to give something, but this would necessitate letting go of the skirt, and they have passed on again. Yes; we have to study all these things. The trailing skirt has already driven a lot of us out of the business."—Philadelphia Record.

Some Timely Health Hints.

The house mother may do much towards preventing the spread of tuberculosis by insisting that paper handkerchiefs be used for any ailment of the eye, ear, nose or throat, when discharges occur from these organs. The handkerchiefs should be quickly burned. Children should be taught never to use one another's handkerchiefs any more than they should use one another's toothbrushes.

Saves Two From Death.

"Our little daughter had an almost fatal attack of whooping cough and bronchitis," writes Mrs. W. K. Haviland, of Armonk, N. Y. "but, when all other remedies failed, we saved her life with Dr. King's New Discovery. Our niece who had consumption in advanced stage, also used this wonderful medicine and to-day she is perfectly well." Desperate throat and lung disease yield to Dr. King's New Discovery as to no other medicine on earth. Infallible for Coughs and Colds. 50c and $1.00 bottles guaranteed by W. T. Hill. Trial bottles free.

Pay Up Notice.

Having disposed of my business at Antioch and moved to Libertyville, I desire to close up my accounts at once, and have placed them in the hands of J. J. Burke, who is authorized to collect and receipt for the same. All persons knowing themselves indebted to me are requested to call at the office of J. J. Burke and settle the same without further notice or demand.

WM. PESTER.

Paris Gibson's Honesty.

Montana's new senator, Paris Gibson, is a popular man in Minneapolis, Minn. He started the first woolen mill in that city, but failed in the panic of 1877, owing his employees nearly $10,000. Soon after Gibson went to Montana and a decade later returned to Minneapolis and paid off every cent of his indebtedness, with interest at 7 per cent.

A Terrible Explosion

"Of a gasoline stove burned a lady here frightfully," writes N. E. Palmer, of Kirkman, Ia. "The best doctors couldn't heal the running sores that followed, but Bucklen's Arnica Salve entirely cured her. Infallible for Cuts, Corns, Sores, Bolls, Bruises, Skin Diseases and Piles. 25 cents at Hill's drug store.

New View of Passion Play.

An altogether new view of the Passion Play at Oberammergau comes from a Jewish rabbi in Baltimore, Md. He pays a deep tribute to the seriousness and simplicity of the actors, but he cries out against the play because, based upon the New Testament, it is a mass of falsehoods that outrage the history, law and constitution of the Jew, and therefore wrong the Jewish race.—Indianapolis News.

Ancient Pet in Ceylon.

The most curious reminder of Holland's sway in Ceylon is a living creature, a grand old tortoise supposed to have belonged to one of the Dutch governors some 200 years ago. He is very docile and ever ready to attract the attention of anyone who is likely to offer him a plantain. The tortoise is so large that he can carry several boys on his back at one time.

The Shah's Costly Landau.

A builder of motor cars in Liege has sent to Tehran an open carriage of the landau shape, ordered by the shah, at the price of $22,000. The body is painted royal blue and the wheels carmine. The seats are luxurious, springy, and covered with pearl gray satin.

Tomak's University Town.

A technological institute has been opened at Tomak. This is the second institution for higher education in Siberia. Tomak is now a university town.

This Means Money

To thoughtful and economical housekeepers. Our line of druggists sundries offers a chance to make good money do double service.

Bring this "AD" and the "PRICE" with you to secure any of the following articles:

Mennen's Talcum Powder.....	at 15c
Cuticura Soap.....	at 20c
Packer's Tar Soap.....	at 17c
Cashmere Boquet Soap.....	at 18c
Juvenile Soap.....	2 cakes for 12c
Colgate's Shaving Soap.....	at 6c
Pear's Unscented Soap.....	at 10c
Rubifoam and Sozodont Tooth wash.....	at 23c
Lyon's & Graves Tooth Powder.....	at 18c
Pint bottle of Witch Hazel.....	at 19c
2 ounce bottle of pure Glycerine.....	at 10c
Vaseline—per bottle.....	at 3c

These Prices Special to Country Customers

G. R. LYON & CO.
LEADERS OF LOW PRICES.

The Best Job Printing can be had at THE NEWS office, Antioch, Ill.

DR. AUGUSTUS V. PARK,
Physician and Surgeon
Bluff Lake, Ill.

Office consultation 1 to 3 p. m.
96m6 Telephone No. 241, Antioch

FLORENCE G. ANDERSON, M. D.
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON.

Calls attended to at all hours, both in city and country.
Office and Residence, W. J. French house, Antioch, Illinois.

E. H. AMES, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON

Office at Residence, Antioch, Ill.

D. A. WILLIAMS,
NOTARY PUBLIC.

Office at Williams Bros. Store, Antioch, Ill.
All Notarial Work promptly and accurately attended to.

E. F. SHAFFER, M. D.,
Physician and Surgeon,
Gray's Lake, Ill.

Calls promptly attended to

HOMER E. JAMISON, M. D.,
Millbrae, Illinois.

Office Hours Saturday and Sunday afternoon and evenings. Telephone connection with Lake Villa and Wadsworth.

$100 MONTHLY SALARY.

May be easily an energetic man or woman who will devote time to the work, representing the fraternal benefit order. Address W. H. Gribble, Aurora, Ill.

J. C. JAMES, JR.,
ANTIOCH, ILL.

Undertaking and Embalming.

The Brooke Barlow Investment Co

has Money To Loan

on good improved farms at 5 per cent interest Inquire 291 at the BANK OF ANTIOCH.

JOHN J. McDOUGALL,

Veterinary Surgeon

Antioch, Illinois.

I AM A REGISTERED VETERINARY

under the state laws of Wisconsin and with over thirty years practical experience in Illinois and Wisconsin I feel competent to guarantee proper treatment and attention to all cases entrusted to me. Consultation of colts attended to at the old price of $1.00.

Estate of Ezekiel Boylan. First Publication May 25, 1901.

Adjudication Notice.

Public Notice is hereby given that the subscriber executor of the last will and testament of Ezekiel Boylan, deceased, will attend the County Court of Lake County, at a term thereof to be held at the Court House in Waukegan, in said County, on the first Monday of July next, 1901, when and where all persons having claims against said estate are notified and requested to present the same to said Court for adjudication. The same to be done on or before July 1st, 1901.

Estate of William Nelson. First Publication April 11, 1901.

Adjudication Notice.

Public Notice is hereby given that the subscribers executor of the last will and testament of William Nelson, deceased, will attend the County Court of Lake County, at a term thereof to be held at the Court House in Waukegan, in said County, on the first Monday of July next, 1901, when and where all persons having claims against said estate are notified and requested to present the same to said Court for adjudication. The same to be done on or before July 1st, 1901.

Waukegan, April 8, 1901.

F. BAIRSTOW,

MANUFACTURER OF

MABLE

AND

GRANITE

MONUMENTS.

CEMETARY

WORK

OF

EVERY

DESCRIPTION.

Correspondence Solicited.

126 Genesee St., WAUKEGAN, - ILL.

DR. E. FORD GAVIN,

Graduate St. Luke's Hospital, Chicago. Surgeon to Lake Co. Hospital, Waukegan. Surgeon Chicago North-Western R. R. Waukegan.

SPECIALIST.

General Surgery Eye, Ear, Nose, Throat

ELECTRICITY OF ALL KINDS.

Special attention devoted to

Chronic Diseases of Men and Women

Spectacles and Eye Glasses

Fitted Accurately at Lowest Prices.

OFFICE IN "THE GABLES"

Hours 8 to 12 a. m., 1 to 6 and 7 to 8 p. m. except Thursday afternoons. Sundays 9 to 12 a. m.

Residence 1009 North Ave., WAUKEGAN. Consultation Free. Best Chicago References.

J. F. Ingalls & Son,

Jewelry and Opticians,

12 Genesee St., Waukegan, Ill.

Dr. George Doerbecker,

Grayslake Local.

Miss Lark, of Wis., is visiting Mrs. Robinson's family.

Mrs. W. B. Higley visited at Burlington, Wis., Friday.

We are sorry to report Mrs. Wm. Ray, still confined to her bed.

Mrs. W. Brandtetter is entertaining her mother, Mrs. Estey.

Miss Carrie Robinson will leave on Monday for a week's visit in the east.

B. A. Johnson is entertaining his sister and two children from Centerville, Dakota.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Parker entertained a brother and his wife from Chicago over Sunday.

Lyn Harvey, of Chicago, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Harvey, over Sunday.

The Woodmen and Royal Neighbors are preparing for a grand celebration here on July 4th.

Mayor Sherman, W. Gardiner and Geo. Thompson are treating their houses to a coat of paint.

Attend the Children's Day exercises at the church next Sunday a. m. A good program will be given.

Mrs. Lena Jones has been entertaining her mother-in-law, Mrs. Jones, of Chicago, and on Decoration Day visited the grave of her son at Wauconda.

Mrs. W. Emmons was called home from her visit at Burlington on Saturday by the illness of her husband, who at the present time is improving.

Mr. Buckman, Sr., who has been to Antigo, Wis., the past two weeks, returned home on Thursday, his wife remaining there for a longer visit.

The township Sunday school convention held here on Sunday was largely attended and very interesting—many helpful thoughts were brought out. The next convention will be held at the Volo church on next Sunday.

On Friday, near Gage's corner, occurred the death of the six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Snyder, whose death was said to have been caused by the dread disease diphtheria, funeral not being held until Sunday.

Today, June 6, at high noon, will occur the marriage of Mr. Orin Butterfield to Miss Lottie Chard, only the relatives being present. The young couple will take the train in the evening for Chicago where they will make their future home. Mr. Butterfield is an assistant veterinary surgeon at the stock yard. Their many friends join in wishing them much happiness.

Decoration Day exercises here were largely attended and a grand success throughout. The oration by Hon. W. Payne, of Chicago, was very good as was all other numbers on the program. The graves of twenty soldiers in the neighboring cemeteries were decorated with flags and flowers by the soldiers and school children. In the evening a reception was tendered the soldiers when a good program and lunch was enjoyed.

To-night, June 6th a reception will be given at the church in honor of Mr. Fischer and Miss Day, who have for the past three years been very successful teachers in our school. Mr. Fischer and Miss Day will not only be missed in school but in the church, where they have been faithful and ever ready to lend a helping hand. Mr. Fischer will not teach but spend his time in study and traveling. Miss Day will return to her home in Michigan, where she will teach. School will close June 12th with appropriate exercises. The following teachers have been engaged: Mr. Decker, Principal; Miss Caudry, intermediate, and Miss Alma Hendee, primary department. At the close of school an addition will be built on the north end of the present structure which will be the same size.

LAKE VILLA.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Farrier are again residing in Lake Villa.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hamlin were Grayslake visitors Thursday.

Druggist MacLean has moved his family into the brick house.

Mr. Walley and family, of Chicago, are occupying the Palmer house.

Miss Gail, of Antioch, and Miss Noonan, of Stevens Point, Wis., spent Tuesday with Mrs. F. T. Hamlin.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Kingsley, Eugene Wilton and family, the Misses Ollie Nelson, Florence Watson and Fay Hamilton were among the Antioch callers Sunday.

Lost between Lake Villa and Antioch; a brown jacket with black fur trimmings. Owner would be greatly obliged if finder would leave at the Lake Villa postoffice or at THE ANTIOCH NEWS office.

An invitation is hereby extended by the M. W. A. Camp of Lake Villa to neighboring camps to join them in decorating graves at Millburn Sunday, June 16th, meeting at Lake Villa hall at 2 p. m. sharp.

Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Hamlin attended the wedding of their sister, Miss Mazie Gail, of Antioch, and Mr. J. Ray, Wednesday, June 5. Both contracting parties have numerous friends in this vicinity who wish them life-long happiness and prosperity.

A surgical operation is not necessary to cure piles. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve saves all that expense and never fails. Beware of counterfeits. W. T. Hill.

BRISTOL, WIS.

James Eddy was a Kenosha visitor last week Thursday.

Mrs. W. Jackson spent Tuesday of last week in Chicago.

George Nixon spent Thursday of last week in Chicago.

Clayton Leonard spent the latter part of last week with relatives in Chicago.

Mrs. Arthur Halle and Mrs. O. B. Gaines spent Tuesday of last week in Kenosha.

Mrs. Whitley, of Wheatland, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alf Worth.

The Ladies Aid Society meets with Mrs. Sarah Brown on Thursday afternoon of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lealie Holbrook, of Kenosha, spent Sunday with Mrs. J. Reichtmeyer.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Murdock, of Brighton, visited relatives in our village last Saturday.

Ralph Boundford, of Kenosha, visited his sister, Mrs. W. J. Lewis, during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cornwell moved to Trevor last Saturday where they will work for George Booth.

Mr. Parker and son Fred, of Racine, visited at the home of Mr. Parker's mother the first of this week.

Miss Albert Barrett, of Kenosha, attended the evening service at the M. E. church of our village Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Murdock, of Union Grove, spent Sunday with their sons, Charlie and Arch, of our village.

Miss Vera Gaines entertained a few of her friends last Friday afternoon in honor of her fourth birthday.

Mrs. Edna Howes Sparks, of Chicago, is spending a couple of weeks with her aunt, Mrs. Victor Richards.

Mrs. Everett, of Woodworth, was the guest of Misses Lena and Jessie Trafford the latter part of last week.

The Hosmer Cemetery Helpers' Society will meet with Mrs. James Bryant Saturday afternoon of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. E. VanWie have been entertaining two grand daughters from Oak-kosh during the past week.

Mr. Warner and Mrs. Harrison Jones, of Hickory, were guests of Mrs. Arthur Halle Wednesday of last week.

Hollis Potter, of Sharon, Wis., spent a few days of the past week calling on old friends in our berg and vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, of Pleasant Prairie, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Willett the first part of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Castle, of Chicago, have been visiting friends and relatives in this vicinity during the past week.

Miss Anna Remers, of Racine, and Miss Mamie Remers, of Kenosha, attended the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Fierchow.

Miss Grace Ellis is home for her summer vacation, having just completed a year's course at the Northwestern University at Evanston.

Children's Day will be observed in the M. E. church at this place next Sunday morning an interesting program is being prepared.

The W. C. T. U. will meet at the home of Mrs. C. B. Gaines Tuesday afternoon, June 11th. This will be election of officers and a full attendance is desired.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Whitcheer and Miss Bessie and Master Laurence Whitcheer, of Kenosha, spent Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Murdock and family at this place.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Nelson entertained relatives from North Cape, Wis., last Sunday. Four sisters, two brothers and a friend of Mr. Nelson composed the company.

Mildred Bishop had the misfortune to break her arm last Saturday afternoon while jumping off of some timbers. It was quite a bad break as the fall nearly caused the bone to be pushed through the skin.

Ed Fierchow, of Bristol, and Miss Tillie Brand, of Pikeville, were married at the home of the bride's parents on Wednesday evening of last week. The happy couple have the best wishes and congratulations of a large circle of friends.

The order of service in the M. E. church is as follows:

Preaching at 7:30 a. m. Sunday school 11:45 a. m. Junior League at 3:00 p. m. Epworth League 7:00 p. m. Preaching at 7:45 p. m. Prayer meeting Thursday evening 7:45.

"A few months ago food which I ate for breakfast would not remain on my stomach for half an hour. I used one bottle of your Kodol Dyspepsia Cure and can now eat my breakfast and other meals with a relish and my food is thoroughly digested. Nothing equals Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for stomach troubles." H. S. Pitts, Arlington, Tex. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat. W. T. Hill.

Malaga Grapes Are Misnamed. Malaga is supposed to be the home of Malaga grapes, but in that particular it is largely a misnomer. Malaga grapes used to flourish in that vicinity many years ago, but there was a blight that killed off most of the vines, and that special brand of fruit is now chiefly grown elsewhere in Spain.

MILLBURN, ILL.

Children's day at the church Saturday, June 8th.

Painters are at work on the residence of Robert Strang, Sr.

Miss Carrie Bator left Saturday for a short visit at Somers.

Emerson Ingalls, of Oak Park, is here for a few days visit.

C. B. Cummings returned Friday after a week's visit to Chicago.

Miss Fanny Corey, of Brooklyn, is a guest at Miss McDougall's.

The fine weather Sunday brought out a large attendance at church.

Don't forget the strawberry and ice cream social Thursday, June 6th.

Mesdames Lucas and Adams were Waukegan visitors Saturday.

Mrs. George Strang has a new street lamp in front of her residence.

The great American Walker was seen on our streets early Saturday morning.

Lloyd White and Robert L. Strang have just received their new top buggies.

The Physical Culture Club will give a picnic at Sand Lake Friday afternoon.

Mrs. H. E. Jamison, of St. Louis is visiting her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Taylor.

Mrs. George Gerity and Mrs. Horace Tower returned from Chicago Saturday.

Claud Rose, of Rochester, who has been visiting Mrs. Ed. Dodge, returned home Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Corey, of New Jersey, and Mrs. Henry Pollock, of Iowa, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Pollock.

We are sorry to learn of the upholsterers strike at Grand Rapids which will delay the arrival of the furniture for the church.

Parties visited the stables of John M. and John A. Strang Saturday evening. After making a short stay they left taking horse, buggy, harness and robes from J. M., and a new harness and robe from Jno. A. Good chance to use the new lamp post.

VOLO, ILL.

Mrs. George Huson has returned from her visit to Michigan.

Mr. Ford, of Chicago, visited Volo friends the first of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Moore were Waukegan visitors the first of this week.

A number from Volo attended the S. S. convention at Grayslake last Sunday.

Albert Raught and C. G. Huson took in the excursion from McHenry to Madison, Wis., where they attended the farmers' school institute.

Miss Mary Cramer, of Waukegan is visiting her sister Alice and attending her last week of school which will close Friday. The school will have an entertainment in the evening.

The lecture given by Dr. Harden on last Saturday evening was very much enjoyed by all present. He handled the subject of Popular Delusions in a masterly manner and those who failed to hear him missed a treat.

Remember the convention at Volo next Sunday; an all day session. Come early bring your lunch. Volo ladies will serve coffee. There is an excellent program arranged by our township president, G. C. Roberts.

We are glad to hear that Mrs. Fred Converse is slowly improving from her serious illness of a week ago when she was laying at the point of death with pneumonia and heart trouble. They had a counsel of three physicians, and through their ability and the blessings of God we trust she may be spared to her family.

At the quarterly conference last Sunday afternoon the official board granted Rev. Dutton a vacation of six weeks. He and his family will visit Mrs. Dutton's people in Iowa. They will leave June 17th. The Volo people will have a social for them some time next week. Time and place will be given the first of next week.

Eczema, salt rheum, tetter, ivy poisoning and all skin troubles are quickly cured by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. The certain pile cure. W. T. Hill.

FOX LAKE.

Mrs. E. Brown was a Chicago visitor on Friday.

S. Culver was a Grayslake visitor last Friday.

M. L. Galiger was a Cloverdale caller on Tuesday.

A. Tweed attended Decoration services at Wauconda.

A. Stickle, of Lake Villa, was seen on our streets Tuesday.

Frank Galiger and family were Johnsonburg visitors Sunday.

Mrs. A. Tweed and daughter were Chicago visitors recently.

B. Nelson and E. E. Galiger were Chicago visitors recently.

Mrs. Wm. Chene and daughters were Grayslake visitors Friday.

Mrs. Wm. Moore, of Antioch, spent last week with Mrs. Wm. Nelson.

W. Pester and family, of Libertyville, visited Fox Lake friends last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Oren Olcott, of Channel Lake, and J. H. Olcott, wife and daughter, of Wisconsin, were Round and Fox Lake callers on Sunday.

A. Gibson and J. Parker dug and bricked a well for Walter Atwell in two days. After digging 19 feet the water drove them to the surface and they were obliged to finish the well as quick as possible.

If You were to keep your head against a brick wall you could not feel worse than does any one who suffers from stomach troubles. We have a positive cure in Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. W. H. Hill.

Ailing Brothers Ink.

The News office has just received a new stock of Ailing Brothers Jet Black Ink, non-corrosive and absolutely chemical proof. Try a bottle and if you don't agree with us in saying that it is the best ink you ever used we will cheerfully refund you your money. Only 5 cents per bottle.

Didn't Marry for Money.

The Boston man, who lately married a sickly woman, is happy now for he got Dr. King's New Life Pills, which restored her to perfect health. Infalible for Jaundice, Biliousness, Malaria, Fever and Ague and all Stomach Troubles. Gentle but effective. Only 25c at Hill's drug store.

Free to Inventors.

The experience of C. A. Snow & Co. in obtaining more than 20,000 patents for inventors has enabled them to helpfully answer many questions relating to the protection of intellectual property. This they have done in a pamphlet treating briefly of United States and foreign patents, with cost of same, and how to procure them; trade marks, designs, caveats, infringements, decisions in leading patent cases. This pamphlet will be sent free to anyone writing to C. A. Snow & Co.

A Good Cough Medicine.

It speaks well for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy when druggists use it in their own families in preference to any other. "I have sold Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for the past five years with complete satisfaction to myself and customers," says Druggist J. Goldsmith, Van Etten, N. Y. "I have always used it in my own family both for ordinary coughs and colds and for the cough following a gripe, and find it very efficacious." For sale by W. H. Emmons, Antioch, and Thomson's Pharmacy, Grayslake.

Regularity of Ocean Mails.

Ocean steamships nowadays are as regular as the railroads in carrying the mails. They have their habitual rates of speed and are expected to make the voyage of 3,000 miles over a trackless ocean through wind and storm in the same number of hours and minutes. winter and summer, never slowing down or heaving to, except on the very rarest occasions.

Steady Girl wanted.

Several young men claim that they have no steady girl. It seems that they no sooner get started with a girl, probably have the theatre tickets all bought, when the girl "can't go because she has the sick headache."

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin cures all forms of Stomach Troubles and Sick Headache.

Girls—"A word to the wise," etc. Your friend, W. T. Hill.

The Dutch Language.

The Dutch language is of a good, old-fashioned tongue. It is so difficult that English-speaking people cannot without difficulty acquire it. In fact, some folks say, it is more like unto English than it is to German. The Boers in South Africa use the Dutch tongue as it was spoken 200 years ago. It is a lingo that is bound to stay, though it shows little power as a wanderer.—Milwaukee Wisconsin.

What a Girl Thinks of Boys.

At a recent public school examination for girls in an English town this composition was handed in by a girl of 12: "The boy is not an animal, yet they can be heard to a considerable distance. When a boy hollers he opens his big mouth like frogs, but girls hold their tongue until they are spoken to, and they answer respectable and tell just how it was. A boy thinks himself clever because he can wade where the water is deep. When the boy grows up he is called a husband, and he stops wading and stays out at nights, but the grown-up girl is a widow and keeps house.

Minerals in the Land of Orange.

Florida is rich in minerals. In addition to phosphate, of which the world already knows, she has immense deposits of clays of every kind—kaolin, ochres, fire and aluminum clays, gypsum and Fuller's earth of great extent and finest quality. She has stone excellent for building purposes and a soft magnesian limestone that produces a cement in every respect equal to the best imported. Iron of high grade and value is known to exist in several localities; so also are indications of petroleum, natural gas and soft coal and asphalt to be found in several portions of the state; and yet with one or two exceptions the fields containing these ores are undeveloped.—Baltimore Sun.

"The doctors told me my cough was incurable. One Minute Cough Cure made me a well man." Norris Silver, North Stratford, N. H.—"Because you've not found relief from a stubborn cough, don't despair. One Minute Cough Cure has cured thousands and it will cure you. Safe and Sure." W. T. Hill.

CONGRESSIONAL MEMORANDUM.

The Desire to Possess the Desks of Retiring Members.

The desks of the senate are all more or less sacred from use, but no sort of tradition attaches to the desks of the house of representatives, so far as known to the present employees. A secret mark is kept on all the senate desks, so that the holder of the list can tell which desk was used by Webster, or Clay, or Conkling, or Logan, or any of the men who have made names for themselves in that body. But the desks of the house are liked by the men who have used them even for one session, and some of these admirers of furniture sanctified by their use are to have a chance to own their desks. According to the plan arranged for an enlarged membership in the Fifty-eighth congress, the desks are to be smaller, and the old ones are to be sold. It was announced that the sale would be by auction, but the members desiring to buy their desks at cost or appraised valuation might secure them by applying in time to the clerk of the house. The desire to possess the old desks is almost unanimous, for the clerk has received some 300 notifications of a desire on the part of old members to own a desk. It does not appear that the desks used by Reed, Dingley, Holman, Wilson, Breckenridge, Bryan, Sulzer or Lentz were marked by any secret sign known only to the clerk, or that there has been any request for the desks once used by such men as Ben Butler, A. H. Stephens, Garfield, Cox, Proctor Knott, Thaddeus Stevens or Henry Clay, although it is asserted that they undoubtedly are among the desks recently in use in the house. The number of desks in the house has been so much greater than that in the senate, and members of the house are so apt to change their desks with successive sessions, that it is difficult to keep track of those made interesting by the temporary use of prominent men. They are all made of mahogany, but are not specially commodious or elegant.—Cor. New York Times.

HER SALT CELLARS.

The custom of giving souvenirs on nearly all occasions sometimes leads to painful mistakes and a certain American, well known in London as a hostess, has reason to regret it was ever heard of. She was the happy possessor of a dozen salt cellars of repousse silver, very beautiful and almost the apple of her eye and she was giving a luncheon at which covers were laid for fourteen. In the arrangement of the table the precious salt cellars had been placed for the guests, another kind being supplied for the hostess and her daughter. The cards designating the places had been laid upon them, and through an oversight had remained there, so that the absence of salt in them was not discovered, says the London Onlooker. Presently a lady took up her card, saw the empty salt cellar, and, remarking upon its beauty, said it was a lovely souvenir, and slipped it into her pocket. Her example was promptly followed by the rest of the company with the exception of one woman, who had no pocket. The hostess was petrified with despair and horror as she saw her cherished possessions calmly appropriated, but in the face of the torrent of acknowledgment and compliment, she had not the moral courage to offer the necessary explanation. After she had heard the adieux of the last guest she sat down and wept, and when it was discovered that the woman without a pocket had forgotten her prize she seized upon it with the concentrated affection which the parent bestows on the last of many children. Her joy, however, was short-lived, for next morning came a polite note from the pocketless woman, saying that she had forgotten her "beautiful souvenir," and would Mrs. F. be so very kind as to send it?

A Captured Whale.

Some ten or twelve years ago a whale floundered into Oyster bay, just north of the Columbia river mouth, and in the state of Washington. The bay is shallow and there is a sand bar at the entrance to it; but the whale must have ridden in on a big wave. At any rate, the next morning perhaps the maddest whale in the world was charging up and down the bay, running its nose into the sand furiously spouting water and mud like a geyser, and evidently determined to get back to the Pacific ocean at any cost. For weeks the gigantic creature raged up and down the bay like a big fish in a small tub of water. The railroads ran excursions to the scene, and the captive animal drew a larger crowd than a whole circus. At last a great storm came, and when it departed the whale went with it. So the railroads declared an extra dividend, and the people about the bay went back to work or play, as suited their tastes or necessities.

Where Is "Way Down East"?

East does not mean to the Washingtonian what it means to the New Englander, says W. D. Lyman in the Atlantic. Anything the other side of the Missouri is east to us. A new arrival from Massachusetts was once greeted very cordially in my hearing, by a lady who had been here some time, and who said, "I came from the East myself." "Ah!" said the New Englander; "from what place?" "From Iowa," was the unexpected answer.

Ex-Speaker Reed has been elected a director of the New York Life Insurance Company; and it is hinted that he is now a full-fledged member of the inner circle of financial magnates headed by Pierpont Morgan.

Some men seem to defy old age. They walk erect. Their eyes are bright. Their laugh is hearty. They are men of to-day, not men of yesterday. They are also men who have kept themselves in good physical condition in the past. As we grow older waste matter accumulates in the system. The body cannot throw it off without assistance. So, little by little the machinery of the body is clogged, vitality is lowered and enjoyment of life ceases. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, cannot make old men young, but it does make them strong and healthy. By removing the waste accumulations, by increasing the blood supply, by strengthening the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition, and thus increasing the assimilative and nutritive powers, "Golden Medical Discovery" makes grand old men. I suffered for six years with constipation and indigestion, during which time I employed several physicians, but they could not reach my case. I writes Mr. G. F. Poplewell, of Huron, Spring, Carroll Co. Ark. "I felt that there was no help for me, could not retain food on my stomach, had vertigo and would fall back to the floor. I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and little by little, am now in good health for one of my age—44 years. I owe it all to Dr. Pierce's medicine." Dr. Pierce's Pellets greatly benefit old men by keeping the bowels in activity.

Louisville & Nashville

Railroad, THE GREAT CENTRAL SOUTHERN TRUNK LINE

WINTER TOURIST TICKETS

Now on sale to Florida!

and the

GULF COAST

Write for folders, descriptive matter, etc., to

C. L. STONE, General Passenger Agent, LOUISVILLE, KY.

SEND YOUR ADDRESS To:

R. J. WEMYSS, General Immigration and Industrial Agent, LOUISVILLE, KY.

And he will mail you, free,

MAPS, ILLUSTRATED PAMPHLETS and PRICE LISTS OF LANDS and FARMS in Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi and Florida.

R. S. BOTSFORD, Justice of the Peace,

Covington, Real Estate, Loans, Collections.

190 Washington St., Waukegan, Ill.

Can be Saved!

OR—

Extracted Painlessly...

ALL WORK GUARANTEED

G. R. OLCOTT, DENTIST, Antioch, Ill.

REVIVO RESTORES VITALITY

Made a Well Man of Me.

THE GREAT FRENCH REMEDY

produces the above results in 30 days. It acts promptly and reliably. Cures when all other fail. You can regain your lost manhood, and old men will recover their youthful vigor by using REVIVO. It quickly and surely restores Nervousness, Poor Vitality, Impotency, Nightly Emissions, Lost Power, Failing Memory, Wasting Diseases, and all effects of self-abuse or excess and indiscretion, which untile one for study, business or marriage. It not only cures by starting at the seat of disease, but is a great nerve tonic and blood builder, bringing back the pink glow to pale cheeks and restoring the fire of youth. You can have it for $1.00 per package, five packages for $5.00, by mail, with no money down. REVIVO is the only true and reliable remedy for these ailments.

BANK OF ANTIOCH

EDWARD BROOK
BANKER

Buy and Sell Exchange and do a General
Banking Business.

WISCONSIN CENTRAL RAILWAY CO.

Antioch Station 55 Miles North of Chicago

TIME CARD—Antioch Station

GOING NORTH
Lv. Chicago, Ill. 5. Daily ex Sunday 10:45 A.M.
1:30 P.M.—No. 7. Daily ex Sunday 3:15 P.M.
4:00 P.M.—No. 13. Daily 6:30 P.M.
8:30 A.M.—SUNDAY SPECIAL. 10:40 A.M.
GOING SOUTH
Lv. Antioch, Ill. 6:30 A.M.—No. 14. Daily 10:40 A.M.
11:15 A.M.—No. 8. Daily ex Sunday 1:10 P.M.
1:20 P.M.—No. 6. Daily ex Sunday 6:25 P.M.
9:30 P.M.—No. 2. Daily 10:55 P.M.
10:30 P.M.—SUNDAY SPECIAL. 9:30 P.M.
W. F. ZIEGLER, Agent, Antioch.

LOTUS CAMP No. 557 M. W. A. meets at 7:30 the first and third Monday evening of every month in Woodmen hall, Antioch, Illinois. Visiting neighbors always welcome. J. C. JAMES, Jr., V. C., C. M. CONFER, Clerk.

ANTIOCH LOCALS.

Items of Local Importance Collected,
Contributed and Stolen.

W. A. Griffith, visited friends here the latter part of last week.

Mr. C. B. Harrison and son Andrew visited Chicago last Saturday.

J. C. James, Jr., and A. N. Tiffany transacted business in Chicago Tuesday.

Mrs. Neils Peterson, of Chicago, was an Antioch visitor the latter part of last week.

Percy Chinn, of Kenosha, visited his mother, in this city, the fore part of the week.

Gunter's Candy, fresh, at the Emmons Drug Store. 39w2

Dr. E. H. Ames is ill with an attack of pneumonia. Dr. Darby, of Wilmet, is attending him.

For rent—The Antioch Laundry, in first-class order; ready for business. Inquire of Geo. D. Paddock. 39tf

Miss Stella Maxham, of Diamond Lake, is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Sabja, at the Simons house.

Just received, at the Emmons Drug Store, a new stock of Tablets, Pencils, Penholders, Pens, etc. Try Hall's Ink.

S. M. Hungerford who has been in Butte, Montana, for some time past is spending his vacation with friends in our village.

Charles Whiteher, the Kenosha Co. Sheriff, was in town recently—so was the horse that Charlie made a deal for some two weeks ago.

About twenty of the young folks of Hebron high school were in attendance at the commencement exercises given here last evening.

The next meeting of the Cemetery Society will be held with Mrs. Will Smart Wednesday, June 12th. All are cordially invited. By order Sec'y.

Miss Etta Hawley, of Dundee, a niece of Mrs. C. M. Confer, after spending a week here, returned to her home the fore part of this week.

Children's Day services at the M. E. church next Sabbath; subject at the evening service, "Lessons From Life's Failures," a sermon for young people.

Lightning killed a horse belonging to Chas. Barber, at Grass Lake, yesterday, also struck the barn of John Grimm and Robert Cabbon's, but fortunately did not cause a fire.

Mrs. P. B. Campbell will give a dancing party at the opera house, on Friday evening, June 14th. Professors Kuehner will furnish the music. Everybody come and have a good time. Tickets only 50 cents.

On Saturday evening of last week parties visited the stables of John M. and John A. Strang at Millburn and took with them a horse, buggy harness and robes from John M. Strang and a new harness and robe belonging to John A. Strang. No clue to the thieves as yet.

The tourist special, on the Wisconsin Central R. R., will run for present during the following days and schedule: Northern Wisconsin, on Fridays and Saturdays, leaving Antioch at 11 a. m., arrive at Antioch, Pa., at 11 a. m., arrive at Antioch, Pa., at 11 a. m., arrive at Antioch, Pa., at 11 a. m.

Mr. King and family returned to their own home in the Harden addition.

W. J. French arrived home last week from his winter exhibition trip south.

Shoddy's Hog Cholera Remedy, warranted to cure, at the Emmons Drug Store. 39w2

Window Screens made to order for whole or half windows by the Barker Lumber Company.

George Hillen, of Salem, Wis., died Tuesday. Funeral will be held Thursday afternoon at his home.

The Misses Jennie M. and Eva L. Clark leave today (Thursday) for a visit with friends in Chicago.

Notice—Houses for rent; always on hand. Ready to make a deal—any way to suit. H. Reise, Antioch, Ill.

Wanted—A good reliable girl for general house work. Mrs. Francis E. Clarke, 451 Sheridan Road, Waukegan, Ill.

W. P. Groebe, salesman for the National Casket Company, of Chicago, spent about a week's vacation here with friends.

The wall for the new M. E. church, which is a nice piece of work, has been completed and the carpenters will begin work next week.

W. T. Hill and family have moved from the Spafford house, recently purchased by H. Hegeman, to the Jemison house on Victoria street.

For Rent—An eight-room house with good barn and large lot in a desirable location in Antioch. Call on or address Mary Jemison, Antioch, Ill.

Persons knowing themselves indebted to Wm. Pester will please call and settle same at The News office by June 6 and save trouble. J. J. Burke.

There will be a dance every Saturday evening at the Ramaker House, during the summer. Admission 25c. Good music will be in attendance and an invitation is extended to all.

Lost; between Lake Villa and Antioch, Sunday evening, a brown winter jacket trimmed in fur. Finder will kindly leave same at The Antioch News office or at Lake Villa P. O.

Woodmen! There will be a special meeting of Lotus Camp Monday evening, June 10, for the purpose of arranging for memorial day. Every member must be present. J. C. James, Jr., Consul.

One fare for the round trip to St. Paul via the Wisconsin Central Railway on account of the meeting of the Modern Woodmen of America. Tickets on sale as follows: At points south of stockton and on Portage and Bessemer branches June 8, 9 and 10, good to return leaving St. Paul not earlier than June 10, nor later than June 18th, 1901.

There will be a meeting of the Antioch Fire Association in village hall, Friday evening, June 7th, for the purpose of taking further steps toward fire protection. If you are a citizen of the Village of Antioch it will be to your interest to come as we have been gathering information for this meeting. A. G. WATSON, J. C. JAMES, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. William Allen, Sr., of Grass Lake, gave a dinner party to about twenty-five of their old-time friends June 1st. To say a bountiful dinner was served but puts it mildly. The table fairly groaned under the weight of good things to eat, and nobody can beat Mrs. Allen making strawberry short-cake. The day was most pleasantly spent, and as one by one took their departure all felt that it was good to be there.

Midland University offers to any young lady or gentleman a Field Secretaryship for organizing classes in "Correct English," in payment for which work will give either a scholarship for a year's course in the following: Law, Medicine, Dentistry, Pharmacy, Shorthand and Typewriting; a Full Business Course, or a Cash Commission. Interested persons please address J. J. Tobins, Chancellor, 115 Dearborn street, Chicago, Ill.

Mr. J. Ray and Miss Mable Gail, both well and favorably known here, were united in holy matrimony Wednesday, June 5th, 1901, Rev. Father Bruton of St. Peter's Catholic church officiating. A wedding breakfast and reception were tendered the happy couple at the home of the bride's parents, at which only the immediate relatives were present. Mr. and Mrs. Ray will remain for a time with the bride's parents, while their home at Grayslake is being fitted up for occupancy. Congratulations and best wishes are hereby extended by their many friends.

New Spring Goods

OUR new spring goods are arriving daily including all the latest novelties in Dress Goods. We have largely increased our line of Dress Silks and can show you many beautiful effects in rich silk goods. Also Summer Goods. including Dimities, Lawns, Mercerized Ginghams and Chombray, Umbria Silk Prints, Alpique Trimmings, Silk Braid and Spikes for Belts. New stock of Summer Underwear.

New style Ladies' Hosiery in Polka Dot and Cardinal Red.

New Shirt Waists in fascinating patterns. Ginghams in the new Watermelon Stripe. New Tapestry Drapery goods. Lince Curtains in new patterns, $1.25 pair. Muslins in Dots and Stripes for sash curtains. Agency for Butterick's Patterns.

MISS HATTIE AMES will continue the agency of Chas. A. Steyens & Bros. Made-to-order Goods showing a splendid line of Summer Wraps, Jackets, Coats and Dresses in sample patterns.

ALWAYS BEST.

Agency for the American Steel and Wire Fencing Union Wire Fencing.

Quick Meal Gasoline and Blue Flame Oil Stove.

We have some great bargains in Cook Stoves—actually less than wholesale cost. The late advance of 20 per cent on stamped Ware found us with stock. We shall continue to sell at old prices.

Garden, Field and Farm Tools. Chicago White Lead and Oil Co.'s Prepared paint.

Devco's Prepared Carriage and Floor Paint. Murelo is the perfect dressing for your wall. It won't crack or scale off.

Paints, Oils, Glass and Putty.

Iron and Lead Pipe and Fittings.

We make the closest prices on building jobs

Wm. Wertz and family, of Meechum, visited with his sister, Mrs. W. E. Drom, over Sunday.

To Rent; four-room cottage on Depot Ave., at $4 per month, 1 acre lot. Enquire of J. C. James, Sr. 37tf

For Rent: A new house and two lots in the Harden addition, cheap to a desirable tenant. Inquire at News office, Antioch, Ill.

Mrs. Ziegler and Miss Lulu Thayer gave a picnic at Cross Lake to their scholars the fore part of the week. A good time is reported by all.

Mrs. John Efinger who has been visiting with her sons at Waukegan for some time past returned to her home here the fore part of the week.

Wanted by a young couple; 1 or 2 furnished rooms, with light house-keeping privileges, in town or on a farm. Address H. K. Bjerke, 5759 LaSalle st., Chicago.

During the summer season the fast train, No. 3, leaving Chicago at 6:15 p. m., arriving at Antioch at 8:00 p. m., will stop here on Saturday nights only to let Chicago passengers off.

W. F. Ziegler, Agent.

Court of Honor members attention! You are hereby notified that a special meeting of Irwin District Court, No. 547, of Antioch, will be held on Wednesday evening, June 12, for the purpose of initiation and such other business as may come before the meeting. All members are requested to be present. J. J. BURKE, C. M. COFFIN, Recorder. Chancellor.

Will Celebrate the Fourth.

The Old Settler's Club of Kenosha are making large preparations to celebrate the National birthday anniversary July 4th, on the club grounds, at Paddock's lake.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors, and the Royal neighbors and Woodmen for kindness shown us at the death and funeral of our little daughter.

MR. AND MRS. W. T. TAYLOR.

Woodmen Memorial Day.

By vote of the Lake Villa Camp, M. W. of A., they will hold decoration services at the Millburn cemetery Sunday, June 10th, at two o'clock p. m. All Woodmen are invited to join with the camp in the exercises. Fraternally, L. C. Manzer, Clerk.

Dyspeptics cannot be long lived because to live requires nourishment. Food is not nourishing until it is digested. A disordered stomach cannot digest food, it must have assistance. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests all kinds of food without aid from stomach, allowing it to rest and regain its natural functions. Its elements are exactly the same as the natural digestive fluids and it simply can help but do you good. W. T. Hill.

WILLIAMS BROTHERS

We are continuing the Shoes and Rubbers

Great Reduction sale of the celebrated factory of Selz, Schwab & Co., the largest shoe manufacturers in the world. Many have profited by purchasing at the reduction sale. We have just opened new spring styles of Ladies' Fine Shoes which are among the most beautiful specimens of foot wear ever displayed here. Now is the time to buy if you want the latest up-to-date productions at medium prices, while goods in little older style are selling below cost.

The famous Hosiery in both wool Black Cat Brand of Hosiery and cotton goods, covering all ranges of sizes from infants to the full size.

Stockings Leather Brand of Stockings for Boys, especially recommended to wear like leather.

Many Bargains in Groceries

A SHORT STOP at our Grocery Counter will convince you it does not cost much to LIVE WELL and get the best groceries in the land. We handle groceries on the principle that something good is worth having, while, if you have got to eat it, poor goods are dear at any price, and although bought cheap in price yet your money is in reality thrown away—actually wasted.

California Evaporated Apples, 10c California Evaporated Peaches, 10c are great bargains and are very palatable. We think this part of the world would be benefitted by a larger consumption of Rice. Rice is the staple food of half the world. We sell it at 5 and 10 cents.

Our line of Canned Goods covers almost the entire range of Fruits, Vegetables, Fish and Meats. Many are under the Monarch Brand.

A full line of Garden Seeds by D. M. Ferry & Co., either by bulk or package. Onion Sets, ready sprouted, only 5c quart. A most complete line of Bremner's Cakes and Cookies.

A complete line of fine Candles.

FRESH BREAD EVERY DAY.

WILLIAMS BROS. "BEST" MINNESOTA FLOUR

ALWAYS CHEAPEST

Clothing Bargains a Big Point

New stock of up-to-date

Gent's Shirts, Underwear, Sweaters, Gent's Furnishings. Spring stock Hats and Caps

The Best Equipped Tin Shop in Lake County.

We show spring patterns in WALL PAPER

A large stock of Window Shades and Curtains and are making the usual popular low prices.

Fishing Tackle,

Oars and Oar Locks.

Hunting Coats and Caps.

Bicycle repairs, Pumps and Sundries.

Buy crushed Oyster Shells, at $1.00 per 100 pounds. Makes hens lay.

Use Lee's Lice Killer. Kills mites.

Headquarters for Poultry Supplies.

Highest prices paid for Butter and Eggs. We have a big outlet for eggs at the highest prices.

Sultan Likes All Sports. It is said that the sultan of Turkey has many tastes in common with men in general. He likes all sports and is a good shot. He collects old and new weapons, is fond of dogs, and is a splendid horseman.

The German Wood Supply. Germany, although it has 35,000,000 acres of forests excellently managed, and yielding an immense revenue, demands increasingly greater quantities of wood, so that for the last ten years the amount of timber which it buys has doubled and its value trebled.

Crown Prince in Journalism. The crown prince of Denmark may have a future as a journalist. A political controversy had given rise to a good many discussions in the papers, and one article particularly caused much comment, though nobody knew the name of the author. It has now transpired that the article has been written by the crown prince.

Weather Man Unskilful. Tim Murphy, the popular comedian, saw an old colored woman sitting under an awning fanning herself when he was in Washington, D. C., last summer. "It's dreadfully hot, isn't it, mammy?" asked Mr. Murphy. "Deed it is, chile," said the old woman, "deed it is. 'Taint right for it to be so hot this-a-way. I tell you, forty years ago, when the blessed Lord made the weather, we didn't have these staying days, honey, no, 'deed, we didn't; but now these big men up at this here weather office has the making of the weather, they does send us anything they please, and they ain't skilful, they ain't skilful!"

Subsidies to Support Art. The government of Bavaria has voted a considerable sum for the maintenance of art institutions throughout the kingdom during the coming year. The allowances for the purchase of paintings and their preservation is particularly liberal. The various art institutes in Munich receive handsome subsidies and the Germanic museum in Nuremberg gets an increased allowance. Various other institutions have been voted large amounts for repairs and maintenance. These art allowances in all reach 3,108,163 marks ($739,741)—Emil Henzel, in Chicago Record.

Pumpkin Pie. Into a quart of stewed and strained pumpkin stir a cup of sugar, a quart of milk, eight eggs well beaten and a teaspoonful each of powdered ginger, mace and cinnamon. Line pie plates with puff paste and fill with this mixture. Bake in a good oven until the pumpkin custard is set.

Peenier Spiral Chimney. A spiral chimney, 150 feet high, has been built near Bradford, England. The chimney is square in cross-section and each layer of brick is shifted three-sixteenths of an inch out of place, thus giving a peculiar twist to each side of the stack.

The bilious, tired, nervous man cannot successfully compete with his healthy rival. DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous pills for constipation, will remove the cause of your troubles. W. T. Hill.

Eureka Harness Oil
A good looking horse and poor looking harness is a bad combination. Eureka Harness Oil is the best of a combination.

Guaranteed $900 YEARLY
Men and women of good address to represent us, some to travel appointing agents, others for local work looking after our interests. $900 salary guaranteed yearly; extra commission an expense, rapid advancement; old established house. Grand chance for earnest man or woman to secure pleasant permanent position, liberal income and future. New brilliant lines. Write at once.

STAFFORD PRESS, 23 Church St., New Haven, Conn.

Notice of Final Report.

Estate of Riley M. Olcott, deceased. First Publication May 9, 1901.

STATE OF ILLINOIS, ss. In the County Court of Lake County. In the matter of the estate of Riley M. Olcott, deceased. To Mr. Olcott, 32 W. Olcott, Mrs. Mary Green, Mrs. Hattie Phillips, Mrs. Eugene Evans, Dennis Putnam, Mammie Putnam, and Thomas Putnam, heirs at law, legulees and devisees of said Riley M. Olcott, deceased. You are hereby notified that the undersigned, Executor of the Last Will and Testament of Angeline Olcott, deceased, will on the 14th day of June, A. D. 1901, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day, in the County Court Room, in the Court House, in the City of Waukegan, in the County of Lake and State of Illinois, present to said County Court the final report and accounting of the said Angeline Olcott, deceased, Executor of the Last Will and Testament of the said Riley M. Olcott, deceased, and ask to have the same approved and a decree for her discharge. Dated May 9th A. D. 1901. JOHN J. BURKE, Executor of the Last Will and Testament of Angeline Olcott, deceased.